Name of Project_________________________

Your 4-H Partner can help you make a list of the things you will learn:

Things to learn and things to do: ________ month-planned ________ month completed
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

When you have completed the project, your partner should help you check the things you have learned. Use other paper if you need extra space.

Share the Fun and Knowledge

Your 4-H Report should show what you have learned. You may write a story with the help of your partner, draw a picture, prepare a collage, make a collection or mount photos.

Use any of the above methods.

Explain how you shared what you have learned in 4-H with others? Write in the date(s) you did each activity and on the line below briefly explain what you did. You may add additional pages if necessary.

The 4-H Partner (adult) is encouraged to help as much as needed to prepare this report with the 4-H member. When one is 5 or 6 years of age, reading instructions and writing answers may not be possible. Thank you for your encouragement and praise. Include this with your project book or activity sheets.
