Upcoming Opportunities for Underrepresented Youth

The 4-H team members at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University have developed a series of relevant experiences targeting first generation 4-H'ers. These are 4-H'ers that do not have a long standing family history of 4-H participation. These experiences are developed to broaden their opportunities in 4-H and to cultivate leadership and soft skills that will help prepare them for 4-H leadership and volunteerism in their communities. For information and to request an application for these opportunities, click the link provided for each.
